WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

A strong upper ridge over northwest California will bring another hot day to the interior while the coast sits under low clouds and fog. Coastal areas will see partial afternoon clearing followed by a return of low clouds and fog this evening.

San Francisco Weather:

Subtropical moisture from the south will bring a slight chance of showers and thunderstorms to the forecast area today and Tuesday. Temperatures are forecast to remain near normal or slightly above normal through the week.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Monsoonal surge of clouds will bring a few thunderstorms and showers to portions of interior northern California into midweek. The increase in clouds and return of the Delta Breeze will result in a little cooler temperatures for portions of the Central Valley today.

Hanford Weather:

Southerly flow continues to bring monsoonal moisture into the forecast area and will increase chances of showers and thunderstorms for the Sierra Crest and Kern County mountains and desert areas into the first half of the week. Beginning Monday, showers and thunderstorms may spread into Sierra Foothills and eastern and southern parts of the San Joaquin Valley. Otherwise, temperatures will remain on the hot side through the remainder of the week.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Monsoonal flow will bring scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms to the forecast area this morning with a slight chance continuing in the mountains and Antelope Valley through this evening. A rather strong upper level high just to the south of the Four Corners area will persist through the weekend. Temperatures will remain above normal across most of the region through the week with night through morning low clouds and fog confined mostly to the coastal plain.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

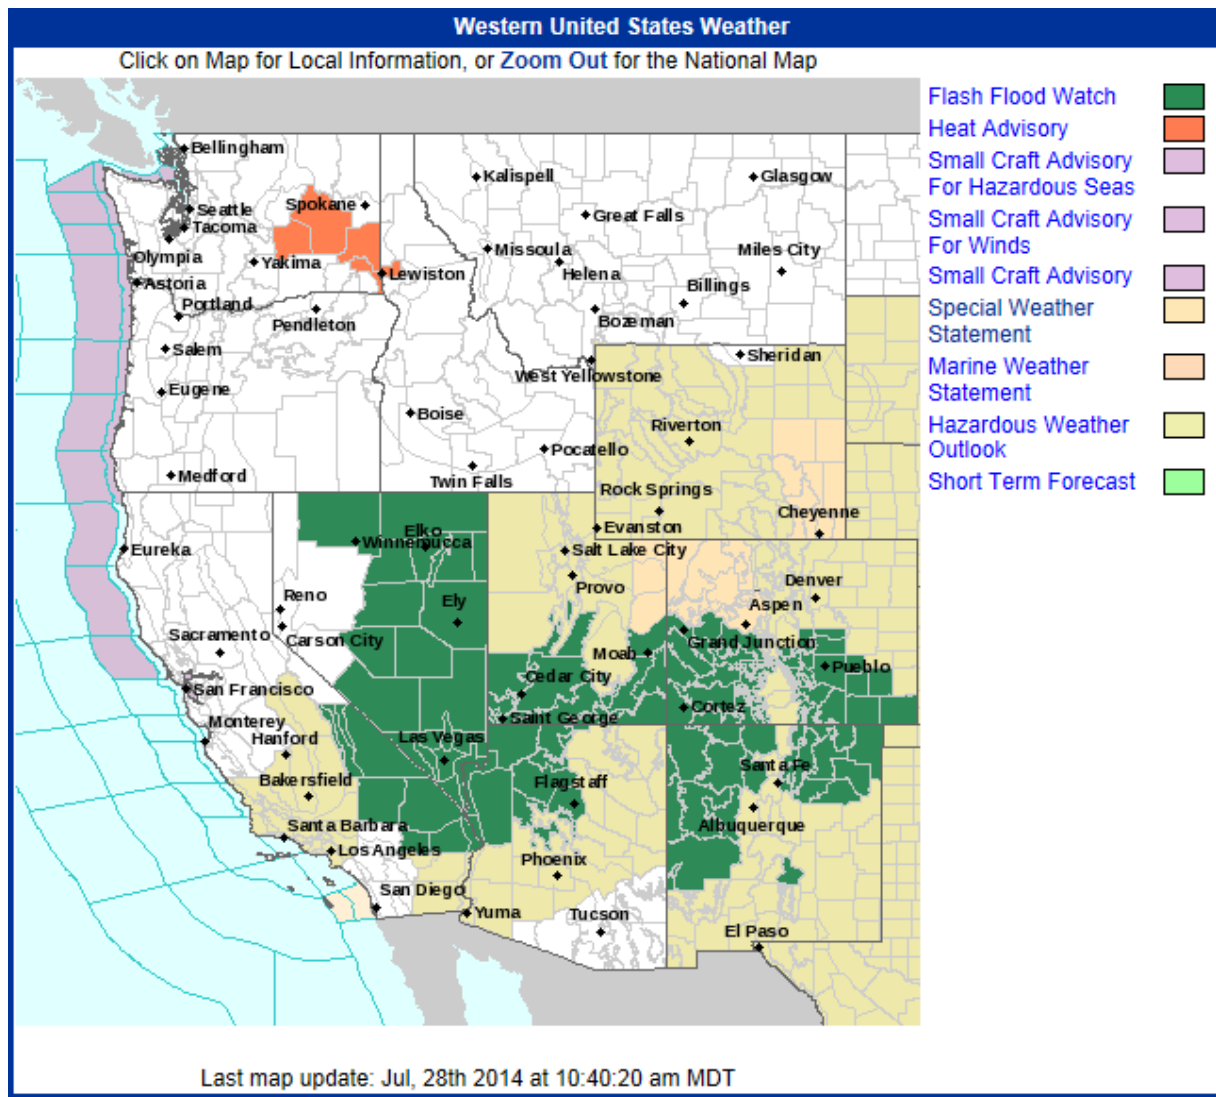

Monsoonal moisture will continue the chance of thunderstorms today. Residual moisture could be sufficient for a slight chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms for the mountains and deserts for Tuesday and Wednesday. For the latter half of the week into next weekend, more drying is expected to further reduce chances for any afternoon thunderstorms for the mountains. Temperatures will be near seasonal levels through Wednesday then warm to a little above seasonal levels for Friday through next weekend.

Southeast California Weather:

There will be a continued chance of afternoon showers and thunderstorms across the forecast area today before drier air moves into the region Tuesday through late week. Storm chances will increase again Friday into the weekend as moisture moves back into the region.

CAL OES ACTIVATIONS

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- The SOC is activated at Level 2 in support of the Drought State of Emergency from 0800-1700 hours daily.
- The Inland REOC is activated at Level 2 from 0800-1700 Monday through Friday or as needed.
- The Southern REOC is activated at Level 1.
- The Santa Barbara County OA EOC is activated at Level 2 to be handled by the duty officer for the purpose of monitoring activities and gaining situational awareness. The operational period is Monday – Friday, 0800-1700 hours.

Situational Summary

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

- On 7/15/14 the State Water Resources Control Board passed a new emergency regulation to reduce out door urban water use. The regulation makes an exception for health and safety circumstances. Local agencies can ask courts to fine water users up to $500.00 a day and the SWRCB can fine water agencies up to $10,000.00 per day. The adopted regulations are expected to go into effect by August 1, 2014 and remain in effect for 270 days.
http://www.waterboards.ca.gov/publications_forms/publications/factsheets/docs/emergregsurban_fs072214.pdf
- Current Reservoir Levels continue to decline. Pine Flat had a 4% decrease from last week. Levels as of July 22: Don Pedro 46%; Exchequer 22%; Folsom Lake 43%; Lake Oroville 37%; Millerton Lake 55%; New Melones 27%; Pine Flat 19%; San Luis 25%; Lake Shasta 36%; Trinity Lake 38%; Pyramid Lake 92%; and Castaic Lake 46%.

Situational Summary

- On July 15, 2014, CDFA in partnership with U.C. Davis Center for Watershed Sciences released a study titled Economic Analysis of the 2014 Drought for California Agriculture. The study indicates the drought in California is the third most severe on record and is responsible for the greatest water loss ever seen for the state's agriculture, and river water for Central Valley farms has been reduced by roughly one-third, according. Direct costs to agriculture total about $1.5 billion (which include revenue losses of $1 billion and $0.5 billion in additional pumping costs). This net revenue loss is about 3% of the state's total agricultural value

- The 2014 Governor Drought Task Force continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
